Allegiant's two divisions react to client expectation, in a fast and reliable manner, while providing the client the flexibility between choosing a contingent workforce solution, a recruiting solution for direct hire, or knowledgeable practitioners for project based assignments or expert consultation. Our services are designed to give the client control over the balance between budget & performance expectation.

It is Allegiant's belief that clients do not need to compromise by choosing between a cost-effective service provider and a strategic partner. We pride ourselves in offering clients the power of "both" the cost-effective advantages of a best-in-class service company and the deep strategic capabilities of a top multinational consultancy.
